The Shin Buddhist path of the Nembutsu is one of Great Compassion. This is not just a path that each of us takes as individuals. We bring our experience of the Nembutsu into the world, to share with family, friends, society, and nature.

How do we experience the Buddhist path in such a way that it transforms our experience of the world, and how is the world affected by the path of Great Compassion? These are the questions we will explore in this year's Winter Pacific Seminar.
